

I WANT TO SPEAK TO YOU

I BELIEVE WE WILL SEE GREAT IMPROVEMENTS WITHIN THIRTY DAYS

And that about as much will be realized from this crop as any for years, and after it has been marketed that the will be nearer out of debt than they have ever been. My observation is that the people have lived close and harder than I have ever known and under these conditions prosperity will come.

HOLD FAST.

Make another cheap crop and you will be independent, and when you thrive I prosper, and build up my trade in every line. I want to see this country in condition to buy from me yearly Five Hundred One Thousand Wagons, Eleven Hundred Road-carts, Two Thousand Harrows, Five Hundred Mules and Horses. Grass seeds of all kinds to raise ten thousand tons of Hay, and all the supplies used on every Calhoun and every county adjoining it, and to be able to pay for all on the 1st of October each year. Make up your mind that you will accomplish something and all creation can't keep you from it. A good beginning would be to sow some Barley or Rye, right away, for next winter grazing. Before I close I want to call your attention to a Second-hand outfit for ginning.

Gin Feeder, Condenser, Cotton Press and Pullies, all at HALF PRICE.

THE FAMOUS.

We've Spread Ourselves.

No harm to look. It will pay you to. You might know that a house with the reputation at stake is not going to tell fairy stories in the papers. We want you to see our $15, $18 and $20 suits, because we are confident they will please you.

They certainly ought to. We've put our time and talent and goodness enough in them. We know that $15 and $18 doesn't sound very much, especially if you've been fooling with tailors prices. If what they charge $30 or $35 for will suit, our $15 and $18 grades are sure to be something of a saving, ain't it? You are not tied down to any style. You have more of a variety here than in a half dozen other stores. The cut of the garment is the latest SINGLE and DOUBLE BREASTED SACK SUITS and THREE and FOUR BUTTON CUTAWAY FROCKS.

By the way, have you thought about a business suit for the spring?

What's the matter with a Double breasted Sack?

There are going to be lots of them worn, and there are scores of neat effects among our stock, some light, some dark, of course betwixt and between shades. There is lots of style about them; lots of comfort and satisfaction in them.

You see your spring suit and underwear will cost you less than the suit alone from a tailor.

Are you going to wear negligee shirts this summer? See our styles and prices. They will interest you.

Don't you think it is about time to get a spring hat?

CHEROKEE STRIP TALES.

A Talk With the Mayor of a New Town.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—One of the most enterprising of the Cherokee strip boomers, G. W. Milton, was at the interior department yesterday to make complaints about the management of the opening by the land office officials. Mr. Milton made the run from Colorado, was one of the first party to reach Woodward, and was elected mayor of the city thirty minutes after his arrival.

There was a railroad station of the Santa Fe line at Woodward with a roundhouse and 125 inhabitants before the strip was opened. Mayor Milton says that the special agent of the government, instead of locating his booth at Woodward, the natural site of the city, located it a mile west, establishing the government town there.

Although Woodward is twenty miles from the border with a country of hills and sand between, a claim to quarter section 30, on which the best part of the town stood, was entered twenty minutes after noon on the 16th, when the strip was opened. Forty-three minutes after a man named Frank Morgan arrived on horseback and entered a claim to this same quarter section. Mr. Milton said that singularly enough the first claim disappeared from the books in Morgan's favor and his was entered. Not until an hour later did the main body of settlers arrive.

Mayor Milton makes no direct charges, but thinks that there must have been collusion to explain the location of the register's office a mile from the village, the fact that Morgan arrived so much sooner than any one else, and that his name was at once entered in place of the original entry.

Under the laws for opening the strip, a party desiring to make a town site must file with the secretary of the interior a plat and evidence of his ability to perfect the title under the homestead laws, and deposit with the secretary of the interior $10 for each acre of the land.

Two days after the opening Morgan received his filings from the land officers. Meanwhile 500 people had settled there who thought they were entitled to the place and that his claim was fraudulent, so they sent the mayor to Washington. Yesterday Mayor Milton laid the case before Lamoreaux, of the general land office, who promised to telegraph an order to Woodward suspending the homestead proceedings. The mayor found that Morgan's claim, with the deposit of $1600, had been brought before the secretary of the interior, but had not been passed on by the land office officials. The 160 acres in question already have $30,000 worth of improvements, with several stores and a hotel.

Special agent Womack, of the interior department, who had charge of some of the details of the opening, returned from the Cherokee strip yesterday. Speaking of the arrangements, he said: "The history of former openings discloses that many people have gone on the lands before the time fixed by law, securing a fraudulent advantage over the honest home seeker. To forestall frauds of this kind in opening the Cherokee strip the secretary of the interior adopted the plan of registration, which has proved a success."

The booths were opened for five days before the day of opening. Meanwhile the interior of the strip was patrolled by soldiers so that all persons could be accounted for. While some succeeded in violating the law, nine-tenths of the mischief was prevented. The reports regarding the scarcity of water were exaggerated, as were the other stories of suffering from the crowding together of so many people.

Phenomenal Success of a Lecture.

"Yes," said the man with the appetite for rye, "it may seem a bit like a fairy story to you fellows, but I was once a temperance orator."

"Trying to work off that old gag about the horrible example, are you?" asked the seedy man suspiciously.

"Not a bit of it," replied the man with the appetite for rye warmly. "It was just what I said I was a temperance orator, and I didn't have no truck with horrible examples at all."

"Where'd you lecture?" asked a member of the party.

"Oh, all over the country. I had some phenomenal successes too. Once I was out in a town in Illinois and lectured to an audience composed entirely of men. There were 200 there, and when I got through I had made such an impression that every last man took the pledge. That's what I call pretty good work."

"Pretty good," said the seedy man, "but how long did they keep it?"

"Keep it! Why, they are still keeping it. I have kept myself informed on that point and there hasn't a man touched a drop from that day to this."

"What town was this?" asked the seedy man.

"Joliet. I lectured before the life prisoners in the state prison, and the warden made them take the pledge."

An interesting comparison of the literary output of 1892 with that of the year 1890, in proportion to the estimated number of readers then and now, is based on the computation that there are four times as many readers now as in 1890. On this basis the only really revolutionary change shown is in the number of new novels, though there has been an increase along other lines.

There has been some increase in theology and sermons, and in history and biography. There has been considerable increase in books educational, classical, philological and still more in voyages and travels. Arts, sciences and illustrated works would seem to have diminished.

While law, medicine and poetry have diminished to a far greater extent. Novels, on the other hand, have multiplied enormously. The actual number of new novels in 1890 was 46. The number in 1892 was 1,147. The number of novels written and not published as shown by testimony from prominent publishing houses is startling. The judgment of the experts based on the number of works examined is that of amateur novelists only about three in every 100 manage to get their works printed. —Author.

Skeptical About This Woman's Execution.

A well known New York artist tells this story of himself:

"While we were spending the summer at our country home, a little girl called to see my wife. As she was engaged, I attempted to entertain the child by showing her pictures of famous French women. The first was Charlotte Corday. I gave a brief account of her life and finished by saying that she had cut her head off. The child caught her breath, but said nothing. The next picture was that of Marie Roland. I told about her, and finally said, 'And they cut her head off.'"

"The child's face grew rather incredulous, but still she said nothing. The next face was Marie Antoinette's. 'Oh!' she exclaimed. 'What a beautiful lady! How lovely she is.' 'Yes,' I answered, 'she was perfectly lovely.' But they cut her head off."

"This was too much. The child arose and looking at me in the most indignant way said: 'Humph! What do you take me for! I ain't so green as I look!' —New York Tribune.

Will our subscribers give us the news of their neighborhoods? We hope so. The REPUBLICAN each week ought to be a mirror reflecting all the occurrences in the county each week. This can only be done through the kindness of subscribers in sending in the news.
Each community should desire to have a place in the news happenings of the county and thus keep itself within the notice of the public. It does not matter whether you feel competent to write for the press or not—write. We will fix the matter up for you. All we want is the news and only news, not opinions. If anybody is seriously sick, or hurt, or dies, or marries in your neighborhood, write to us about it, as well as an account of church meetings, school meetings, society meetings or anything of interest in that line. In short, write us of anything in the shape of news or information, such as the state of the crops, who has moved away, who has come in, and all things of that sort. We will appreciate it.

DEATH OF MRS. SKELTON.

Mrs. Lou J. Skelton, wife of Dr.
W. A. Skelton of this place, died Monday, after a brief illness, and was buried in the cemetery here Tuesday, a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives following her remains to the grave.

Mrs. Skelton was a daughter of Hon. Asa Skelton, who once represented this county in the legislature and who will be remembered by the old inhabitants of Calhoun.
She was a sister of Ex-County Treasurer James J. Skelton and County Commissioner Green B.
Skelton, and had a very large circle of kindred in the county.

She was near fifty-six years of age at the time of her death and yet her venerable mother lived to attend her funeral.

Mrs. Skelton had been for many years a consistent member of the Methodist church and was a devout christian. She met her approaching end with christian calmness and resignation and expressed herself as fully ready to go.

She was a good woman in every sense of the word—kind hearted, charitable, motherly, friendly. No one knew her but to esteem her and love her; and her death came as a personal bereavement to every one in the town.

All the people of the town attended the funeral at church or cemetery to testify their high regard and love for her, and none will visit the cemetery in future without leaving a flower or a tear on the grave of this good woman, who had nothing but love and charity in her heart for every human being.

WILL LAW TOGETHER.

Attention is directed to the law

TRUITT'S LETTER.

EDITOR:

I see in your paper that my competitors are trying to follow or "imitate" me. Well, I like this more reasons than one. FIRST: I want the REPUBLICAN to gather in the shekels, because you always give more value received. SECOND: Because to follow me they must think I am doing well and I always like that. In THIRD PLACE: If I think they are trying to follow, or are after me, I just GET ON MY METTLE and move up a few ton holes, and go right on.

NOW ONE BETTER

I have wagons, buggies, carts, and the best line of HARNESS, horse blankets and buggy robes for less money than anybody---part cash and the balance NEXT FALL, with eight per cent interest. I can show twenty CHARTER STOVES now in use to any other manufacturer's one. I mean first class stoves.

A cheap Piano. This fine piano originally cost $500. Within a year the inside works have been thoroughly overhauled by piano makers at a cost of $45 and are now as good as new. It will be put thoroughly in tune before delivery to buyer. Will be sold for $75 cash. There was never such a bargain offered. Good for family or school room. Apply at this office.

Alf Truitt takes two columns of space across the local page to tell the readers that he does not intend to be outdone when it comes to hustling for trade. He pays a deserved compliment to the REPUBLICAN as an advertising medium. This is cute. It will please the thousands of friends of the REPUBLICAN in the county and will pre-dispose them to trade with him. Those who try him will be satisfied.

W. M. Gammon & Co., of Anniston, take a column in the REPUBLICAN for the next few months to tell the readers of the paper what good bargains and attractive goods they show the fall and winter seasons. As we have heretofore said this is a sound and trustworthy firm and our readers may rely upon their representations. They are now doing a large business also in Rome, where they have merchandised for many years.

ANNISTON NEWS.

THE CREAM OF EVENTS IN THE CITY AND SUBURBS.

Four converts were baptised in Oxford Sunday last.

The meetings at Parker Memorial church are doing good.

A baby child of Mr. Lucius McKibbin of Oxford died a few days ago.

A horse swappers convention is to be held in Oxanna today (Saturday).

Anniston has received eight thousand bales of cotton by wagons and rail.

Mr. Sam Ellis and Miss Emma Noble, of Anniston were married Wednesday.

The Anniston Hot Blast reports that Col. B. F. Sawyer will establish a paper at Anniston.

Mr. Tilman Turner and sons are opening up a wholesale and retail dry goods and grocery house in Oxford.

A Peoples party paper has been established at Oxanna. It is called the Oxanna Journal and is edited by R. A. Ross.

Mr. Henry Constantine and Miss

Carrie Watkins were married on Tuesday at the residence of Major D. F. Constantine.

Col. B. F. Sawyer, of Oxanna, found a horse in a well on one of his lots a few days ago. He hired some men to take the animal out. Later a negro came up from Ragland and claimed the horse.

The Anniston Hot Blast says that the firm of LeGrand Bros., at Weaver's, have assigned. They were burned out last spring and a great many notes and accounts of the firm were destroyed. This, coupled with their failure to collect the insurance money on the store house and stock, is said to have caused the assignment.

The Anniston Hot Blast pitches into Mayor Hight without gloves because the Mayor maintains that the mass meeting recently held there, represented the majority of the people of Anniston in its endorsement of the course of Messrs. Morgan and Pugh. The Hot Blast asserts that a majority of the people of Anniston stand by Cleveland.

FROM PIEDMONT.

A SUMMARY OF THE HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK.

Charlie McCollister is slowly improving.

J. B. Smith, of Warners, was in town Tuesday.

R. F. Hughes was in Rome the first of the week.

T. P. Savage of Jacksonville, was in town this week.

Mrs. W. E. Williams visited Esom Hill this week.

J. T. A. Hughes has been absent from home several days.

J. H. Ledbetter, of Anniston, was in town Monday and Tuesday.

Capt. D. Monahan come over on a visit this week from Cedar Bluff.

Capt. Z. W. Woodruff left yesterday to be on the road a number of days.

Will Graham has been confined to his room several days with pneumonia.

Mrs. R. D. Crusee is visiting friends in the city during Mr. Crusee's stay here.

M. T. Borden, of Cedartown, is spending a few days in the city with relatives.

Rev. Geo. D. Harris, of Oxford, was in Piedmont on business Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Daisy Bailey accompanied by Miss Birdie Sharp returned to Rome last Saturday.

Prof. M. M. Russell returned from Gaylesville Monday, bringing with him his family.

Mrs. R. H. Garner, who has been visiting friends here, returned today to her home at Albertville, Ala.

Rev. W. B. Witherspoon occupied the chair during President Russell's absence from the Seminary.

Like many others who have left Piedmont, P. G. Wingo and family have returned to again make their home here.

R. D. Crusee is looking after the interests of the Bank of Piedmont, during Cashier Ledbetter's stay at the World's Fair.

A number of young people met at the home of Electrician Waring Tuesday evening, and spent several happy hours in social amusement.

The verses sent in last week have not been published, because the name of the author did not accompany them. It is a rule of all newspaper offices to publish no matter unless the name of the author be furnished the office.

Mrs. Betsy Wilson died at the residence of her son, J. J. Wilson, Saturday at twelve o'clock, and was buried Sunday at the family graveyard four miles from town. She was sixty-six years of age, and had spent the larger part of her life in and around Piedmont, and by her death the community loses another of its old land-marks, which are fast disappearing. A very large number of friends and relatives attended the funeral services, which were conducted by Rev. W. P. Howell.

THE STATE NEWS.

GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGES AND CONDENSED.

The cotton receipts of Talladega, are double that at the same time last year.

Vincent, in Shelby county has had a yellow fever scare, but the case turned out to be only malarial fever.

The cotton house of Mr. Geo. Hall, near Camden, was burned a few days ago. It was the work of an incendiary.

Mr. E. W. North, a prominent cotton merchant of Selma is critically ill at Montevallo, following a surgical operation.

The attendance at the Populist Convention in Shelby was slim. It is said that neither Longshore nor Pitts attended.

Wright Mills, of Conecuh county has been sentenced to two years imprisonment in the penitentiary for sending a challenge to fight a duel.

The canebrake Herald says that cotton receipts at that point are greater than was expected, and yet there is lots of cotton held back.

Dr. John Hampton of Courtland lost his gin house by fire last Sunday night. The loss on gin and cotton will amount to about $2,000.

The State Confederate Veterans have elected Fred S. Ferguson, of Birmingham, Major-General, to succeed Gen. Holtzclaw, deceased.

Mr. Walter McDavid, a brakeman on the Memphis & Charleston Road, fell between two moving cars at Linrock and was crushed to death.

Mr. James Massey of Sipsey Turnpike had one of his arms literally torn to pieces by getting it caught in a gin. It was amputated at the shoulder.

The gin house of D. G. Allen & Bros. at Lafayette was discovered to be on fire the 10th, about 2 o'clock in the morning, but was saved from destruction.

Mrs. D. L. Gumpston of Marshall county, was riding in a wagon with her young baby in her lap, when the horses became frightened and threw them out, badly bruising both of them.

Sam Kersh, the man arrested for the burning of Mrs. Moran's gin house, in Bibb county, is in jail in default of $1500 bail. Sensational developments are expected when all the facts are brought out.

Mr. Otto von Koenitz, a portrait painter of Huntsville, fell from his window some time during last Sunday night and died from the injuries received. He was insensible when found and never spoke.

Capt. A. P. Howison, of Randolph, was driving a pair of horses along the road, a tree fell across the buggy, crushing the top and breaking a front wheel. The well trained horses stopped immediately and stood perfectly still.

At the State convict farm in Elmore county, a stable was set fire to by an incendiary. The convicts worked heroically to put it out and by their efforts the crib containing 4000 bushels of corn was saved. None of them tried to escape.

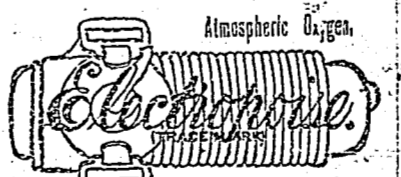

A VETERAN'S REMEDY.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable position. In fact we have never had a more successful writer as "Sol." has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. B, 2d N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows: Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies. Solomon Yarell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 1892. These remedies are sold by druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

The President of the Randolph Alliance wrote a card to the Roanoke Herald in which he says: "The Alliance has nothing to do with this gin house poisoning business, and as an organization and as individuals condemn it as unwise and subversive of law and order."

ES WILL HAVE OPPOSITION

Governor. Probable Opposition to the Nominations. The Coming Campaign Bound to be Hot. Interesting Mine Statistics.

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 21.—The pot continues to boil slowly every indication that it will over before very long.

has become manifest that Col. Oates will have some strong opposition for the Democratic nomination for governor, though it is to be largely the opinion of the people that he will win in the end. Capt. John Johnston, however, of Alabama National Bank of this city is said, will be strongly backed by his friends, and he has a multitude of them, for the governorship. Captain Johnston was a memorable race of 1890, and the second strongest man after him for the nomination at the time the strength of Johnston, Richardson, Crook and Jones was pooled and the last named candidate nominated.

It is stated that Capt. Johnston soon retire from the banking business, and many believe this because that he will enter the political arena either for the governorship or for congress. He is being backed of strongly for both offices, though his warmest friends, it is said, would rather see him get the governor's office.

It is said that the Tennessee Valley democrats will bring out Col. William Richardson again for governorship. He has strong backing in the northern tier of counties and is quite an able man. With Col. Oates, Capt. Johnston and Col. Richardson in the race the contest would be a lively one. The strength of the two last named lies to a large extent in North Alabama, although Capt. Johnston has a strong following in the black belt counties.

Everybody who knows anything about the condition of affairs predicts the hottest campaign ever known in this state. It is an undisputed fact that the Kolbits are going to make a hard fight. It is very doubtful now that Kolb will receive the united support of all men opposed to the regular democracy. In fact, indications are that he will not, as he is looked upon by many leaders of the People's party as a political Jonah.

The Populists are organizing in every county, and will hold a big state convention here soon. They will doubtless determine then whether or not they will support Kolb or put out a brand new man of their own.—Columbus Enquirer-Sun.

Boston Transcript: A Massachusetts official who spent several years in Kentucky tells the story of a judge somewhat given to bibulosity. After a night with the wheels on his honor's old cradle-shaped wagon, putting the fore wheels behind and the hind wheels in front, thus raising the fore part of the wagon to an unwonted eminence. When he reached home, near morning, his wife naturally wanted to know where he had been all night. He explained by saying in uncertain tones: "Maria, I've been in Louisville. I started in good season, but it was ten miles and up-hill all the way."

In this country 2,500 women are practicing medicine, 275 preaching the gospel, more than 6,000 managing postoffices, and over 3,000,000 earning independent incomes. Since 1880 the patent office has granted to women over 2,500 patents, and in New York city 27,000 women support their husbands.

BETTER THAN THEY ASKED.

A PIECE OF SOUND SENSE FROM THE SELMA TIMES.

When a man begins to whine about the State Democratic Executive Committee not offering fair, reasonable and honorable terms to those Democrats who followed Kolb off last year, just read to him the following action of the Executive Committee just before the presidential election. The Committee has taken no backward step since, but has invited even those who were so "bull headed" as to vote for the notorious Weaver to return to their party allegiance, by voting for the next democratic nominees. Read:

"Whereas, Many questions have arisen and are continually arising, touching the party status and standing of many who habitually sustained democratic principles, and have voted for and supported the nominees of the party, but who, by reason of unfortunate difference failed in the August election to support the democratic state ticket headed by Thomas G. Jones.

And Whereas, It is important in the interest of harmony, and the continued triumph of democracy so essential to the welfare of our people and the maintenance of good government, both state and federal, that all party division be healed, so that it may present a united front against our adversaries.

And Whereas, It seems proper in the advancement of this purpose that this Committee should make some declaration indicating who will be entitled to participate in the primaries and conventions of the party.

Now, therefore, be it Resolved, That, all persons who are in accord with the principles of the democratic party, and who propose to act in harmony with it and support its nominees in the approaching presidential and congressional election, are entitled to participate and vote in all primaries and conventions of the party, and are eligible for nomination for office."

This was done without asking learn who some of them are. Several signs have been posted in Marshall county also.—Gadsden Times mittee could not, with honor, accept. If you want unity and harmony, just come along in the good old democratic way. The door stands ajar.

The merchant who wants to sell his wares and who knows his business, figures his advertising bills as a necessary part of his expense, just as he does his clerk hire and store rent, and the merchant who dispenses with it rarely succeeds. If he wants trade beyond the limits of the locality in which his store is located, he must advertise, and he must study the best methods in the preparation of his advertising, if he would get the best results for his outlay.

The local newspaper bears on its face the surest index of the prosperity of its people, and of the town and community of its home. Its utterances are the token of the spirit of enterprise of the community—and in this sense, it owes a broad and philanthropic duty to the public, and should lead in every enterprise and good work, and it has the right to expect the appreciation and support of the public it serves.

Stand by and support your home papers, and they will increase the measure of your own prosperity.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

On last Sunday night the gin of Mr. James McClelland, of Cox's beat, in Wills valley, was "posted" by some unknown party, notifying him that if he "ginned" any more cotton before the price reached 10 cents a pound, his gin would be burned. The notice was signed "Whitecaps." Mr. McClelland stopped operations until Tuesday, when he commenced ginning again, and if the so-called "whitecaps" attempt to put their threat into operation, the public will no doubt learn who some of them are. Several signs have been posted in Marshall county also.—Gadsden Times

OVER IN CLEBURNE.

The people of this county are becoming quite indignant over the posting of gin houses by some person or persons styling themselves white cappers, with instructions that they cease ginning until cotton went to ten cents per pound. Many of the gins have suspended operation, while others are running under guard. What the outcome will be we cannot tell.—Cleburne Plowboy.

TILLMAN'S TRADE MARK.

In District of Columbia, last week, justice Bradley delivered an opinion in the case of state of South Carolina against the commissioner of patents, to require the letter to register the latter to register the liquor trade mark of the Palmetto state. The judge decided in favor of the state, and ordered a peremptory writ requiring the commissioner of patents to register the trade mark. The commissioner can appeal from the decision and carry the matter to the matter to the United States supreme court.

AN HEROIC WOMAN

Mrs. Van Dusen's Heroism With-out a Parallel.

HOW A CHRISTIAN CAN DIE.

The Terrible Wreck Results in the Death of Twenty-six People.—Such Disasters Caused from Carelessness Must End.

At Battle Creek, Michigan, the 20th inst., two passenger trains collided on the Grand Trunk railroad. The cars telescoped and the passengers in one car were jammed back into the end of the car in which the stove was situated. Twenty-six were killed outright or burned and twenty-seven badly injured escaped with life, some of them only to die afterwards. The narrative thus describes the heroic death of one of the lady passengers:

"The most awful experience of this terrible affair was that of Mrs. C. C. Vandusen, of Sproutbrook, N. Y., who was burned to death with her hands free and in full possession of her senses in spite of the utmost endeavors of the party of rescuers. Soon after the wreck occurred Mr. Vandusen was removed from beneath a pile of debris and taken to the hospital, where he died in a short time. He was conscious to the last. He left his business affairs in the hands of Rev. G. Culp, of this city, and died without knowing that his wife had met the most awful fate of all. Mrs. Vandusen was penned in the telescoped car, and at first had no doubt of her rescue, as she looked out of the window and awaited her rescuers.

The alarm of fire was suddenly given. "Harry up, please hurry up," she said, as the fear crossed her mind that perhaps she was in danger of burning. A minute later, while strong men were straining to extricate her, the possibility became a probability that she would burn, and the flames crept up toward the imprisoned woman.

"You shant burn, we'll get you out," cried the men, heroically, as they wrestled frantically with the splintered timbers.

There was a lull for five minutes. The men had become giants in strength and madmen in desperation, and they struggled wildly with the tangled mass of wood and iron. The woman was silent and gazed imploringly and inquiringly into the faces of the firemen.

"My God! Oh, my God!" suddenly burst from the lips of one of the heroic workers, and in the despairing cry, the helpless woman read her death warrant. She gave one agonizing wail and then her woman's weakness gave way to a martyr's strength.

"I can die, oh yes, I can die, if I must," said to the strong men who was weeping in their impotent strength. Again they struggled breathlessly to rescue her, but the flames were encircling the party, and the blaze claimed the victims that the crash had spared.

"I AM A CHRISTIAN," she said, resignedly, and a moment later her voice was raised in prayer. The flames now completely encircled the helpless victim, and the firemen were driven away. As the blaze caught her arm, and as she fought to keep the flames from her face, she told her name and address and left messages of love to her husband and family. The closing minute was a pathetic struggle against the inevitable, but it was the flesh that fought and not the spirit.

Her lips moved in prayer. In the fury of the flames that wreathed her lips and blistered and curled the white flesh of her arms, she was powerless to utter a scream. Suddenly there was a crashing of timbers, and a wild groan burst simultaneously from the lips of the spectators, and strong men wept. Through their tears they saw the flames sweep around the face of the martyred woman, and her hair burned wildly for a moment. Her head dropped to one side as the victim inhaled the flames, and the soul of Mrs. Vandusen had passed beyond the fury of the elements of earth. An hour later the husband, for whom she had left a loving message, joined her in the world to come.

The Cherokee Sentinel is a new paper started in Centre, Cherokee county. It is edited by T. L. Drees, "Warwick," and will advance the claims of the Jeffersonians.

TRUITT'S LETTER.

MR. EDITOR:

I see in your paper that my competitors are trying to follow or "imitate" me. Well, I like this for more reasons than one. FIRST: I want the REPUBLICAN to gather in the shekels, because you always give more than value received. SECOND: Because to follow me they must think I am doing well and I always like that. THE THIRD PLACE: If I think they are trying to follow, or are after me, I just GET ON MY METTLE and move up a few button holes, and go right on.
